

A statement regarding laboratory services at the Animal Health Trust

Tuesday 24 March 2020

Due to the ongoing situation with the Covid-19 pandemic and the UK Government's latest position requiring people to remain at home, the Animal Health Trust has decided the responsible position is to no longer receive and process submissions for anatomic pathology, microbiology, histopathology, clinical pathology and canine DNA testing. At this point we are unable to advise when this situation will change.

We appreciate this will be disappointing news, but we would like to take this opportunity to thank you for all your support and understanding during this difficult time.
